

Questions:

1. What is required to answer the questions “Am I a knower”?
  - a. What is the nature of this question?
  - b. How does answering it related to consciousness?
  - c. Why has not it been asked until this point in the book?
2. What is the unity of consciousness?
3. What is self-affirmation? How is it different from other types of affirmation?
4. Why does Lonergan spend an entire section discussing consciousness?
5. Why is self-affirmation an “immanent law”?
6. How does self-affirmation relate to description and explanation?

Am I a knower?

Conditioned

I am a knower	if	I am a concrete and intelligible unity-identity-whole characterized by acts of seeing,
		perceiving, imagining
		inquiring, understanding,
		formulating Reflecting,
		grasping the unconditioned,
		judging